Terms and conditions of contract.

1. Application for virtual space at The Virtual African Bir Fair (hereafter referred to as - the exhibition) shall be made on the form overleaf/attached and shall be duly signed by the applicant or a person authorised by him. Where an applicant is acting as an agent, factor or licensee, he/she shall disclose in the application the name(s) of the principal(s). Such application shall not be binding on BirdLife South Africa (hereafter referred to as –the organiser) until accepted on its behalf by a duly authorised person signing in the appropriate space.
2. If an exhibitor fails to make the contract payments by the date(s) stipulated, then the organiser shall advise the exhibitor in writing of his intention to cancel the contract and, if time permits, to re-let the space to another applicant. If after a period of 7 (seven) days from the date of notification the outstanding contract payment has not been remitted by the exhibitor then the contract shall be deemed to be cancelled by default of the exhibitor. In such event but without prejudice to the organiser's other rights in law, the exhibitor shall be liable (a) to reimburse the organiser's costs and expenses arising directly as a result of such failure and (b) the exhibitor shall not be entitled to refund of any monies paid by him in respect of his obligations under the contract. The organiser shall be entitled at its discretion to release an exhibitor from all or part of its obligations or to grant such release on such terms and condition as the organiser deems necessary.
3. In the event of failure of the exhibitor to exhibit the full day (5 September 2020) without rendering sufficient notice (minimum 15 days prior to The Virtual African Bird Fair) to the organiser, the exhibitor shall be liable (a) to reimburse the organiser's costs and expenses arising directly as a result of such failure and (b) the exhibitor shall not be entitled to refund of any monies paid by him in respect of his obligations under the contract. The organiser shall be entitled at its discretion to release an exhibitor from all or part of its obligations or to grant such release on such terms and condition as the organiser deems necessary.
4. The exhibitor shall as a condition of this contract abide by the exhibition rules and regulations laid down by the organiser from time to time. Furthermore, the exhibitor agrees to adhere to any amendments which may be imposed by the developers of the exhibition platform(s).
5. In the event of any abandonment or postponement of the exhibition, the organiser shall advise the exhibitor in writing. If the exhibition is cancelled, then all monies paid by the exhibitor to the organiser as at the date of notification shall be reimbursed in full. If the exhibition is postponed the exhibitor will be given the option of retaining his stand booking by entering into a new contract with the organiser or cancelling the contract in favour of reimbursement
6. In the event of any abandonment, postponement or limitation of the exhibition, neither the exhibitor, its contractors nor its agents shall have any claims against the organiser in respect of any resulting loss or damage, consequential or otherwise.
7. If the exhibitor withdraws from this contract within a period before 10 (ten) days prior to the opening date of the exhibition he shall be liable for a cancellation fee equivalent to 50 (fifty) percent of the full contract price (including VAT). A cancellation made by the exhibitor within the final 10 day period prior to the opening date shall render the exhibitor liable for payment to the organiser of the full contract price (including VAT). The organiser shall be entitled at its discretion to release an exhibitor from all or part of its obligations or to grant such release on such terms and conditions as the organiser deems necessary without diminishing any of its rights under this contract.
8. The exhibitor may not display any products or services or conduct any activities which in the sole opinion of the organiser are in bad taste, contrary to public interest or contrary to the spirit of the exhibition.
9. The organiser shall have the right to cede and assign its rights and to delegate its obligations under this contract to any party of its choice.
10. Domicilium citandi executandi of the organiser in terms of this contract is Isdell House, 17 Hume Road, Dunkeld West.
11. The exhibitor hereby chooses domicilium citandi executandi in terms of this contract at the address shown on the contract document attached/overleaf.
12. This agreement constitutes the whole agreement between the parties and no variation hereof shall be binding unless reduced to writing and signed by the parties.
13. The organiser and the exhibitor agree to the jurisdiction of the Magistrate's Court in respect of any disputes arising out of this contract.
